REAL SOUL

REALSOUL is an educational toolkit aimed to teach Asian American history through art and discussion. We offer comics, zines, blogs, and illustrations to encourage curiosity both in and out of the classroom.

WHO WE ARE

THE LAST HOISAN POETS

FLO DY WONG

In her late 30s, Wong's art journey began to explore family and community history. She is widely recognized for her mixed media installations and poetry.

NELLIE WONG

Born in Oakland, Wong organized and participated in various labor movements. Her activism fueled her poetry, often addressing sexism, racism, and classism.

GENNY LIM

As an award-winning poet, playwright, and performer, Genny's activism began with journalism at Wounded Knee. Her poetry continues to connect and challenge her community and beyond.

JUDY YUNG

Specializing in women's history and Asian American history, her love for oral history gave voice to thousands of Chinese American women.

Did you know that Genny work with Judy and Him Mark Lai on the book, Island: Poetry and History of Chinese Immigrants in Angel Island?

HIM MARK LAI

Lai was pivotal in making Chinese American history comprehensible and accessible by researching and translating historical Chinese American documents.

With the UC Berkeley Arts & Design Initiative, the programs will sponsor an artistic series titled "A Year on Angel Island- Immigration Histories and Futures" to discuss race, global migration, and architectures of incarceration.

UC BERKELEY
FUTURE HISTORIES LAB

Also known as AllSF, the organization raises awareness of the experience of immigration into America through the Pacific, collecting and preserving rich stories and personal journeys of immigrants through education initiatives and public programs.

DELSOL QUARTET

The Del Sol Quartet is made up of Samuel Weiser (violin), Benjamin Keith (violin), Charlton Lee (viola), and Kathryn Bates (cello). Together with composer, Huang Ruo, they brought Angel Island poems to life.

LENORA LEE dance

Lenora's immersive multimedia dance performance "Within These Walls" and "Dreams of Flight" transformed the barracks & hospital into sites of remembrance. It is the first of its kind on the island.
